LIVE WEBCAST DETAILS Join us on March 2, 2017, for this live, interactive webcast!

Invite your entire office and, like a live seminar, "attend" the webcast at its scheduled time. It's easy and convenient! Webcasts provide everything you need for a premier educational experience including real-time video and audio of the speaker. See and hear the speaker and watch the slides all on your computer screen. Seminar materials are available for download. One CE Certificate is included. Only $19.99 per CE Certificate for each additional participant.

Objectives

1. Identify behavioral episodes that challenge educators, professionals, therapists and parents.
2. Discuss the contribution that a trauma history makes on the following disorders: ODD, ADHD, Emotional Dysregulation and Disruptive Behavior Disorders.
3. Implement clinical ideas into educational practice to improve positive engagement and student performance.
4. Demonstrate how to utilize peer relationship coaching to reduce bullying and improve student acceptance and inclusion in social groups.
5. Outline growth strategies to build core strengths, improve grit, perseverance and determination and move beyond resilience to post traumatic growth.
6. Illustrate brain based strategies for emotional management, executive functioning and accelerated learning using the newest research in brain functioning.
7. Describe teaching techniques and methods that include new and exciting methods to challenge students to do their very best.

Seminar on DVD or CD Package: You can purchase a self-study package on the subject. You will receive a set of CDs or DVDs that include a digital copy of the seminar manual and post-test/evaluation. You and your colleagues can receive CE hours for a nominal fee. To determine if homestudy credits are available for your profession go to www.pesi.com or call 800-844-8260. A NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION CONNECTING KNOWLEDGE WITH NEED SINCE 1979

TRAUMA INFORMED EDUCATION

As an educator, you are expected to teach and engage children—even those with the most challenging behaviors. These are the students that no matter what you try, you just can't reach them. Like the boy with disruptive behaviors that keep him sitting in the principal's office. Or the student that struggles to focus and complete assignments. What about the girl who is completely withdrawn? Is she even more challenging than the boy with the aggressive outbursts?

If your current interventions are not reducing these challenging behaviors, then you need to attend this program! Join leading education expert Robert Hull, as he teaches you evidence-based trauma-informed education strategies that will reduce the achievement gap, decrease referrals for highly restrictive special education programs, as well as drastically improve:

- Emotional functioning
- Acting out behaviors
- Aggressive behaviors
- Relationships
- Student engagement

Using a trauma-informed approach will create an affiliation between teacher, student and family member that leads them to all work together for success rather than constantly being in conflict.

It's a revolution in education that will help you connect with your most challenging students!

All educators work with children who have experienced trauma. However, in many cases you may not know who these students are. Regardless of the student or the root of the trauma, you will benefit from gaining a deeper understanding of how trauma affects children and what you can do drastically to improve emotional functioning, relationships, student engagement and the acting out behavior of your students.

Guarantee Your satisfaction is our goal—and our guarantee! If you are not satisfied with this seminar, we'll make it right.

Speaker

Robert Hull, MA, ED, EDS, MHS, award winning school psychologist, career educator, special education administrator and professor, is an expert in implementing evidence based practice into practical, easy to implement strategies that lead to desired outcomes. Robert's hands-on assistance has helped and inspired thousands of educators who work in the most challenging schools in our nation. His 30 years of experience working with youth and teachers in areas ranging from urban inner cities to impoverished rural counties, has led to his recognition by local school systems, state governments, and state legislatures. Robert Hull has a reputation for taking on the biggest challenges in the most difficult school systems. As an administrator at both the system/district and state levels, he implemented reforms in the areas of disproportionality, implementing evidence based practices, and educating traumatized children. Robert Hull graduated cum laude from Arizona State University with a degree in psychology, and obtained graduate degrees in education and public health from Arizona State University, Memphis State University, and Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. Robert's style uses humor to instill hope and motivation in order to release the anger and disillusionment that educators working with challenged youth face. A passionate presenter, he creates optimism while making compelling points. Robert's "get the job done" approach focuses on creating a culture of success where everyone is responsible for leadership and everyone gains from success.

Speaker Disclosures:

Supporting and Educating Traumatized Students

A Guide for School-Based Professionals

By Your Presenter: Robert Hull, MA, ED, EDS, MHS, and Eric Rossen, PhD

Combining knowledge of the cognitive and behavioral effects of trauma, evidence-based interventions, educational best practices, and the experiences of veteran educators, Supporting and Educating Traumatized Students presents a new framework for assisting students with a history of trauma. The book provides practical, effective, and implementable strategies and resources for adapting and differentiating instruction, modifying the classroom and school environments, and building competency for students affected by trauma.

Self-Compassion for Teens

129 Activities & Practices to Cultivate Kindness

By Lee-Anne Gray, Psy.D.

Self-compassion is the key for teens to develop empathy and manage self-criticism, while increasing resilience and well-being.

The first of its kind, this book brings together 129 actionable mindfulness and compassion-building tools for teens to reduce suffering and cultivate kindness for themselves and the world around them. Perfect for clinicians, educators and parents, this resource is filled with exercises, worksheets and activities.
