

Social & Historical Trauma

When we look at childhood trauma we cannot ignore the social and historical context in which children and families exist.

Join us as we take on the issue of social and historical trauma, especially racial trauma, and with a team of experts from around the country will endeavor to create a safe space to talk about the impact of social and historical trauma on the communities we live in, as well as to showcase strategies that offer hope of community-level healing and resiliency-building.

Our Speakers

Dr. Kenneth Hardy

Dr. Joy DeGruy

Dr. Howard Pinderhughes

Asadah Kirkland

Federico Bustamante & Casa Libre

Kanwarpal Dhaliwal

Our Goals

Create a safe place to discuss current and historical trauma and how this affects our communities

Take time to tell our stories, remembering and mourning injustices past and present

Identify strategies for community healing and reconnection

Visit our website for more information!