

Trauma-Informed Educators* Needed for Research Study!

*For the purposes of this study, educators can include anyone working with students in a school setting to improve academic, emotional, behavioral, and/or social skills. This could include Principals, Counselors, Teachers, Social Workers, Behavior Coaches, Paraprofessionals, Instructional Assistants, etc.

Understanding How Educators Think About Trauma in Relation to Their Work with Students

Participants who agree to take part in this study will complete an anonymous online survey that should take approximately 20 minutes to complete.

The survey will help researchers to better understand the ways that educators think about and learn about trauma as it relates to their work with students.

This study is being completed by Joseph Feldman, LCSW under the supervision of Dr. James Scheurich from the School of Education at Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI).

This study has received approval from the IUPUI Institutional Review Board (#2011888864).

Are you Eligible?

To be included in the study, you must:

- Be at least 18 years of age
- Work in a US school that serves students in grades PreK-12
- Identify your work with students as trauma-informed, trauma-sensitive, or trauma-responsive (or use another similar term to describe your work)

If you're unsure if you meet the requirements or have other questions, please reach out to:

Joseph Feldman, LCSW
Doctoral Candidate
Urban Education Studies, IUPUI
Joefeld@iu.edu

Scan QR Code or Click Link to Access Online Survey

Link to Survey

