Why is it important to understand “trauma informed”?

Types of Trauma

A single traumatic event that is limited in time.

Acute Trauma

The experience of multiple traumatic events.

Chronic Trauma

Vicarious Trauma

Complex Trauma

System Induced Trauma

Both exposure to chronic trauma, and the impact such exposure has on an individual.

The traumatic removal from home, admission to a detention or residential facility or multiple placements within a short time.

SYSTEMS IMPACT

Community Violence and Cumulative Trauma

- Poverty
- Child Abuse
- Domestic Violence
- Gang and Gun Violence
- Refugees
- Lack of Access to Physical and Behavioral Healthcare
- Traumas Involving Community Agencies and Systems (e.g., Schools, Child Welfare Services, Law Enforcement, Courts, Immigration)

Our brain's reaction to trauma.

Toxic Stress Derails Healthy Development (1.52 minutes)
Center on the Developing Child at Harvard University

Children with toxic stress live much of their lives in fight, flight or fright (freeze) mode. They respond to the world as a place of constant danger. With their brains overloaded with stress hormones and unable to function appropriately, they can't focus on learning. They fall behind in school or fail to develop healthy relationships with peers or create problems with teachers and principals because they are unable to trust adults. Some kids do all three. With despair, guilt and frustration pecking away at their psyches, they often find solace in food, alcohol, tobacco, methamphetamines, inappropriate sex, high-risk sports, and/or work and over-achievement. They don't regard these coping methods as problems. Consciously or unconsciously, they use them as solutions to escape from depression, anxiety, anger, fear and shame.

- Trauma-Informed Means Understanding the Neuro-Biological Impact of Trauma
 - Trauma induces Fight or Flight response
 - Fear and trauma responses activate limbic system of brain that governs arousal and emotional reactivity
 - Ability to access pre-frontal cortex which governs abstract thought and problem-solving is compromised in children experiencing trauma
 - Toxic stress inhibits learning
 - There are long-term consequences on brain development

Oakland Unified to fund Restorative Justice with "at least" $2.3 million!

DONIELLE PRINCE 5/26/16 11:38 AM

I'm not sure if this has already made the rounds, but it's such good news, it's definitely worth a repost!

"Oakland Unified school board voted unanimously Wednesday night to eliminate willful defiance as a reason to suspend any student and to invest at least $2.3 million to expand restorative justice practices in its schools!"
