

Trauma-Informed Police Training

Thursday, August 18 from 8am-4pm

Coastal Coalition for Substance Awareness & Prevention (CCSAP) is proud to offer an engaging day of trauma-informed training to law enforcement free of charge!

Law enforcement professionals have a history of successfully enhancing public safety through the use of available science. The science of DNA testing and finger printing are two such examples. Among the Resolutions of the International Association of Chiefs of Police adopted in 2019 is a resolution encouraging all law enforcement agencies to become well informed about the science of adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) and numerous negative outcomes. By receiving training in Trauma Informed Policing, law enforcement agencies can increase empathetic approaches supported by ACEs science. Trainer Becky Haas is recognized as a subject matter expert in helping to equip members of law enforcement to use a trauma informed approach. Attendees will receive a certificate of attendance and contact hours.
