

PAPER TIGERS

Please join us for a film screening of James Redford's new documentary, about teenagers' struggles at Lincoln High School in Walla Walla Washington.

The film explores how Principal Sporleder's embrace of a new trauma-informed approach resulted not only in improved student behavior, but also significant, measurable improvement in students' academic performance. Grades went up while suspensions and expulsions virtually disappeared. This documentary traces the process, strategies and perspectives of staff and students at Lincoln High School. (Not recommended for younger children due to strong language)
